WARRANT FOR GARLAND AND BETTINA HOVEY

Warrants charging serious offenses against Charles "Hurley" Garland, "Dave" Hovey, and Bettina Hovey, were issued today at Alameda, Cal. "Hurley" and Bettina will be arrested together, according to District Attorney C. E. Hovey of Los Angeles County, who obtained the warrants as a result of the mysterious death of the couple's three-month-old son. And District Attorney Hovey declared that criminal action was preliminary to a full investigation of Garland's new "April Form," in Alameda, Cal. Hovey, who refused his legacy of millions and ran a "love farm" at Carver, down Cape Cod, for some time, admits being father of the infant, and says that Bettina Hovey, his latest flame, is his mother. Although the cause of death was given as "asthma," due to throat trouble," an investigation is under way today at Alameda to determine the truth of the explanation. The first, however, the burial place of

OPEN LAST FIGHT FOR SACCO AND VANZETTI

Fighting their case at life in 25 bids of exception, Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, convicted holdup robbers, through their attorney today made their last stand in the Supreme Court of Massachusetts. The courtroom was thronged as William G. Thompson, counsel for the convicted pair of admitted radicals, began his argument with loud lament, pleading for a new trial for the defendants. Mr. Sacco sat in the center aisle of the solemn chamber with her left arm crossed in the seat in front, both listening intently to the plea of the lawyer in defense of the men convicted of slaying Francis A. Farmer and Alessandro Berardelli, paymaster and guard respectively for the State & Mercantile Shoe Company at South Braintree. Thompson explained to the full bench, complaints that the defense was injured during the trial through the fact that Jurymen E. J. Hall had in his possession three cartridges of his own, which he took out in the presence of other jurors, and compared them with a bullet marked as an exhibit. Another supplementary bill takes exception to testimony of Firearms expert, William Hamilton, who testified that a model bullet could have been fired from Sacco's gun. A third supplementary bill, Thompson continued on Page 2, Column 1.

BROTHER ANSISTER, PARTED IN YOUTH, NOW IN 'MARRIAGE' TANGLE

Lowell, Jan. 11—Hubert discovered his common-law wife and mother of his children is his own sister as he was making an attempt to lose their union. Seeing records of his birth he found the child was born, after determining to meet the woman, but he learned from an older brother that she was his sister, that it would be impossible for him to marry her and that the children must be ever removed from the state. The strange coincidence of the most unusual that has ever come to the attention of the local court, came to light when Hubert was arrested in connection with non-support of the children now at the State House in Newbury with their mother. He had just the woman, Mildred, in his possession in Portland, Me. He had when he learned the truth, Alaska is alone for the wrong to do.

STUDENTS AND GIRLS HAVE HILARIOUS TIME AT INN, POLICE CLAIM

State police were called to break up an orgy of wine, women and dancing indulged in by six youths who said they were Harvard students and six girls in Oritenden Inn at Norwell. The inn was closed for the season, but the party of 12 found a way to get in and were over-emphasizing hilarity for all they were worth when the police arrived.

The six youths were arrested and in Alington chamber court they pleaded guilty to trespassing and were fined $1 each in Judge George W. Kelly's court. No charges were made against the girls.

The youths gave their names as Paul Graham, Donald Young, Paul Morgan, Harry Jones, Bernard St. Cyr and Edwin H. Lanken. At the Harvard University office it was said students of the university are arrested, except in the case of Mr. St. Cyr. According to residents of Norwell near the inn, they first learned of the "orgy" when the lights in the closed house shined on and a party about 10 p.m. From then on the sounds of talking and singing and several of the youths called the barracks of the State Constabulary. 14 MORE HEADS FALL BY NICHOLS' ORDERS

Footnote: Unpublished employment bureau was turned up today when Mayor Nichols requested from Eugene L. L. Stabile the resignation of fourteen assistants, including those of Stabile's brother and three girls.

The salaries of the fourteen men range from $3,000 a year down to $1,000 and aggregate $17,000.

Immediately following the receipt of the resignation request, the mayor ordered through City Hall the seven or eight of the fourteen were asked to go and the rest retained in a reorganization of the department.

The mayor's order also states that Mayor Nichols views the annual payroll of $10,000 devoted to the department as a bit heavy in view of its efficiency and believes it can be reduced by a smaller staff in similar.

Fourteen assistants whose resignations were asked are: Frank R. Hovland, former chief official photographer since 1918; John J. Shaugnessy, $2,500; Thomas J. Duffey, $2,000; Albert V. Benson, $2,000; Herbert V. Benson, $2,000; and John V. Benson, $2,000.

IRISH FREEDOM FRIENDS SCORE WORLD COURT

Resolutions vigorously opposing the entry of the United States into the World Court were unanimously adopted by the Friends of Irish Freedom at a conference of the officers of the branches of that organization at the Quincy House.

Matthew Cummings, president of Greater Boston Council, and member of the National Board, presided and introduced the resolutions.

A copy of the resolutions passed yesterday was forwarded to U. S. Senator William M. Butler.

It changes the fundamental policy and law of this Republic. It wipes out the traditions that have made this nation the powerful. It is joining the World Court, we lose our sovereignty and independence and become a part of a super-government known as the League of Nations. This World Court is purely political in character. It was provided for in the League of Nations. It was created by the League. Its members are selected by the League. The rules and regulations emanate from the League. Its membership may be changed by action of the League. It is a foreign tribunal pure and simple, created, dominated and controlled solely by foreign nations.

Grocer Is Found Frozen in Vermont

Montpelier, Vt., Jan. 11 (A.P.)—Harry Carroll, owner of a wholesale grocery house in West Lebanon, N. H., was found frozen in Granville Woods, about 35 miles from here and within three miles of Granville, by E. W. Hutchins and Herman Damon of Granville.

Carroll left Warren Saturday afternoon to drive by automobile to his home, and apparently died from natural causes, about half an hour after leaving Warren.

That this was Turkish territory. "It guarantees the spoils of war to the nations that are members of the League. This includes their rule over conquered peoples, England remains mistress of the world. England controls and dominates the League of Nations and the World Court. We object to the shameful and brazen foreign propaganda which is compelling the United States Senate to vote adherence to the World Court, regardless of the fact that an overwhelming majority of the American people is opposed to any entangling or political alliances with European nations."

"We denounce the Senators who voted against Senator Reed's resolution in which he asked that the foreign propaganda for the World Court be investigated. We congratulate Senator Reed of Missouri for his patriotic action in trying to expose to the public the foreign influence that are financing this propaganda. The same influence are demanding the cancellation of foreign debts. We vote the war for England and her allies and now we are asked to pay for the war."

It is the old story of "Marry in haste and repent at leisure."

JINX PURSUES MESALLIANCE ELOPMENTS

If the living Bertha Minn Mackay elopement turns out in a happy wedding life the seers are wrong and for some the birds of ill omen are bled.

For the elopements of prominent persons, and particularly where the contracting parties come from different strata of society, have lately turned out not so "happy ever after."

As witness the elopement which astonished New York society and caused the more or less humble ranks of chauffeurs to throw out their chests, that of Julia Estelle French, one of the Vanderbilts, and "Handsome Jack" Greathly, the family chauffeur.

UNWED MOTHER FIGHTS FOR MARRIED MAN'S SON

LAD TAKEN BY FORCE, ISHER CLAIM

George E. Abbott of Melrose Tells Court His Wife Loves Youngster

A seven-year-old "love child" was the centre of a strange legal battle before Judge Dolan in Suffolk Court today when the unwed mother demanded the custody of her boy, who is now living with his father and the latter's wife.

Judge Dolan deferred the decision until January 25 when the whole matter will be thrashed out in open court.

George E. Abbott, wealthy Melrose business man, now happily married, admitted without hesitation the paternity of the child, and also admitted that Miss Isabelle K. Wood, the woman petitioning for custody, was the boy's mother.

NOTICES PLEA

He said the boy, called George E. Abbott, Jr., is now very happy at his home and that his wife loves the boy as though he were her own son. He is going to school and has all the comforts of family life.

On the other side, the mother admitted that she is now living in a West Newton street lodging house, and expressed confidence that with a more she would be in a position to support the child properly.

The father contended that if the child were returned to his mother he would be compelled to roam the streets while she was at work, and now he is happy, healthy, with every prospect for a bright future.

STRONG PINK BOY

Judge Dolan ruled that he had no jurisdiction to award the child to either parent without hearing the case in open court, so continued the case.

The mother claimed she had reared the boy until a year ago, when the father took him from her, without authority.

Later the mother attempted to take the boy by force when she saw him in his father's automobile in the Back Bay, where his father and wife occupied a flat at No. 21, St. Stephens street.

The father retained and both the father and mother were up in arms when the windows of the motor were broken.

FIRE BATTLE IN DORCHESTER

Flames caused by hot ashes passed through the cellar of the Globe Furniture Company's store at No. 25-108 Dorchester avenue, Dorchester, today, causing $2,000 property damage and gave the firemen a stubborn battle.

In the cellar were stored linoleum, mattresses and other inflammable substances, and these gave out a thick, black smoke through which the firemen were compelled to grope their way to reach the fire itself.

The Globe Company is owned by John Robinson of No. 7 Oakwood street, Dorchester, while the two-story brick building is the property of John S. Beardon, No. 18 Elm street, Cambridge.

POLICEMAN, AT WOBURN FIRE, RESCUES 3

Three persons, including an invalid woman, were rescued today from the flames of a fire at No. 355 Main street, Woburn, and smoke roared through the upper floors of the four-story wooden block.

The building is in the heart of the business district of Woburn and the fire occurred on Sunday.

It was discovered by Patrolman W. Henry Bennett, who saw smoke issuing from the store, No. 355, where the building and around Charles E. Toole, his wife, Mrs. Edith Toole, and his 12-year-old daughter, Laura.

The daughter was nearly overcome by smoke before Bennett led her to safety by way of the rear exit of the building. All three were cared for by neighbors.

Several stores adjoining were filled with smoke and the First National Bank could not open at its regular hour because of the flood of smoke. Much damage was done to the hotel, where were of H. T. Toole and 30-Orville's department store.

The damage was estimated at $2,500 by Fire Chief Frank E. Tracy. The fire started from an undetermined cause in the basement of the grocery store.

Auto Thief Twice Drives Car by Victim's Door

Three times the man who stole his automobile drove it by his home, Albert H. Hays, No. 89 Clinton street, Roxbury, told the police.

Both times he had his brother, Albert, gave chase to his foot, but could not catch the car, or the thief, who was twice driving with a girl.

Finally Albert followed his brother's machine, followed in the direction taken by the thief, and found his car abandoned by the roadside.

When the thief, he had seen driving it, stopped and entered his home to sit on his hands, making a noisy dinner a year ago, as he did so. Then he was away.

Albert saw the still back the way.

Patrolman Barrett later arrested the girl and brought her to the Roxbury station, where she gave the man's name and he is now being sought.

WIFE, 29, TIRED OF LIFE, TAKES POISON

Tired of life, Mrs. Gertrude Chen, twenty-three, of West Newton street, wrote a note, gave away her jewelry and, while a man drove about her, she took a fatal dose of poison.

The body of the young woman was found in the street today.

She is thought for the night at the Haymarket Hotel, Boston, and physicians say she will recover.

A note that she left with her chemist, John Shaw of West Newton street, sent the letter on how the street laid at night searching for her.

Mrs. Chen said that during the evening Mrs. Chen stopped her car in front of a jewelry store and wrote a note.

It told, according to Mrs. Chen, of trouble that was driving the writer to desperation. After reading the note, Mrs. Chen hurried into the street to find her.

William Thornton, night cashier of the restaurant, gave milk as an antidote to the powerful poison and Mrs. Chen, who was recovered, told Mrs. Chen was recovered to the hospital.

Mrs. Chen and her husband, J. Chen, are living apart.

BURGARS LOOT SAFE IN CAMBRIDGE OF $229

Weekend burglars hit for an average of $229 in Cambridge the weekend. It was discovered today, there are hit out of three attempts getting them $229 from the safe of David Hirsch, dealer in cars and parts of No. 211 Mass. Avenue. The burglars knocked the combination off Hirsch's safe. In an adjoining room, and at the jewelry shop of Samuel Bazzoff, No. 511 Massachusetts Avenue, their efforts failed.

MALDEN MAN ATTACKED BY THUGS IN HIS STORE

John P. Finn, former and on Malden High football team and part owner of a hardware opposite the Sacred Heart Church, that city, was in the establishment and heard sounds that told him burglars were at work. He picked up the telephone to call the police when he received a blow in the jaw from one of two men with a bay of 14, who made their escape.

'Flappers Are Dumb'

New York, Jan. 11 (A.P.)—Red Grange is quoted in the current issue of Collier's Weekly as asserting he never will marry unless he meets some girl far more sensible than the flappers who've dashed around since I became a hero.

"I'm married," he added, "and I'll be happy. I've been engaged and don't want to be. When you read the headlines you can't tell a woman the way to the altar without being mentioned as a divorcee. I've learned that anyone who gets by money out of the public surely earns it."

NEVER START SOMETHING YOU CANNOT FINISH

Did you ever realize that a certain job should be completed and you keep putting off the final steps?
 I have said you feel you can't get the benefit of the good and thorough start. I think that is true. I did not get around in time to finish up.
 I feel that you do make mistakes.
 You work at a proposition till you are weary or until you are interrupted and then you stop. You don't expect your time beginning so many things if it is going to be impossible to finish them.
 Instead, try to do other things and do them well and to a finish.
 But you say that you get tired of doing the same sort of things all the time and you need variety.
 Well, you cannot live and work physically nor mentally on a variety of things.

You must have substantial food and that regularly. Though it is not of substantial that we tire so easily. It is too much variety that tires. Worthwhile things well done, are satisfying.

COOK COOKS

For some reason or another, the month of January, 1926, has been designated as "National Laugh Month".

So it will doubtless be impossible to prevent the Editor's school of poets from writing things akin to this:

When you're feeling sick and blue, When a fond rain over you, Try to laugh. Though the world seems all aces, And you know your ultra-superior, Do not get out and strut. Merely laugh.

When your back grows aching, When you're treated like a nut, When you're down and out with grief, And your gut goes stepping out, With some too-sour-free Bay State, Laugh that off.

STAYERS' BULLETIN
"All National of the other laws will be avoided, a card of law, influence, or wealth may be inserted." —The Beloved Prohibition Director.

Here's William Grogan's verdict: He says: What does the doctor do after he operates on your father? You say: I don't know—what does the doctor do after he operates on your father? He says—Sew your old man.

TODAY'S NEWS PICTURE

This is the Perry, back in our fair mind after a short stay at college education, where he was a student of the state. Mr. Perry is shown with a list of Florida jobs which he plans to discuss at the downtown postoffice lobby.

At the first sign of skin trouble apply Resinol

Delay in the proper treatment of skin troubles is dangerous. Every day in trying unproven remedies may only let the disorder spread. The value of Resinol Ointment is second for thirty years it has been used as a soothing, healing remedy for the skin. If applied in time, it usually reduces the eruption promptly, but even in stubborn, long-standing cases it is surprising how quickly this gentle, effective ointment brings the desired result. As all eruptions,

First Court, Then League—Then Good-by Freedom!

Senator Bruce, Its Advocate, Admits That Once in the Court We MUST Enter the League

A WASHINGTON correspondent of the Boston Evening American writes of the speech made by Senator Bruce of Maryland, a Democrat, on the World Court.

"The effect of Bruce's speech on the Republican Senators, who have been trying to conceal the fact that the World Court is definitely and closely tied up with the League, was astounding. Many of them were so disappointed by Bruce's frank utterances that they left the chamber and refused to listen to him. One Senator remarked that 'A FEW MORE SPEECHES LIKE THAT OF BRUCE WILL KILL THE WORLD COURT DEADER THAN A DOOR NAIL.'"

More such speeches ought to be made. They reveal what the advocates of the World Court, flying before the storm of paid propaganda and hiding their heads like ostriches, have been eager to conceal. Here are a few of the things Senator Bruce said, the striking, true, compelling things, the things that ought to be known by every American. And every American should make it plain to his Senator that he does know them.

A storm of telegrams from constituents will bring the Senate ostrich heads out of the sand. It will make the storm of paid propaganda loud and clear.

Listen, Americans! Listen to a FRANK advocate of the World Court, Senator Bruce, a Wilson Democrat from Maryland:

I feel just a little as Benjamin Harrison did in the Continental Congress when the political timidity of Jonathan Dickinson, in dealing with the mother country, led him to declare that the only word in one of the cautious papers of that Congress of which he did not approve was the word "Congress." "The only word in that paper of which I approve," retorted Harrison, "is the word 'Congress.'" To me, for the best thing about the present World Court which is proving such an effectual ally of the international concord is its connection, however limited, with the League of Nations.

The entry of the United States into the World Court would doubtless be eventually followed by its entry into the League of Nations, and I have no wish to conceal the fact that this result would be a source of sincere gratification to me, though I am perfectly honest when I say that, even could I lift the veil of futurity and see that the United States will never become a member of the League, I should still earnestly support the pending resolution.

I think that the entry of the United States into the World Court would break the ice of our national aloofness, so to speak, and would so habituate our country to the idea of co-operating with the other great powers of the world for the maintenance of world peace that it would finally become inclined to assume the same general measure of responsibility for world peace as they.

In other words, with our participation in its proceedings, the World Court would probably work so smoothly and successfully that the desire would spring up in the breast of the American people to be not only a party to the statute by which it was created, but also a member of the world-wide league which is clothed with both the duty and the power of compelling warring nations to submit their disputes to the decision of the World Court, or to arbitration, or to the council of the league.

If our counsels are still too timid and irresolute, or still too deeply biased by factious considerations to permit us to enter the world league, by all means let us at least enter the World Court, even though by limiting our co-operation to that we should leave to a bolder spirit than our own the duty of enforcing its decrees through the league.

The spirit of international peace to be firmly maintained between nations must be institutionalized, just as the free spirit of the American people to prevail must find expression in a President, a Congress, a Supreme Court, an Army and a Navy, a State militia, and a city police force.

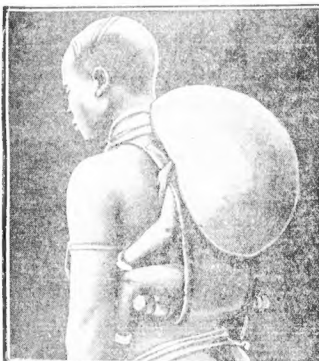

I have always thought that the views of that other Republican ex-President, Roosevelt, as to the means by which the authority of the league should be maintained were peculiarly sagacious and sound. He did not believe, as Lord Robert Cecil seems to do, that, in executing its aim, it can dispense with force. He felt that just as a city must have its policeman and a Commonwealth its soldier to preserve law and order, so the League of Nations, to make its mandates good, must have its international police force or army; and I also feel. There is little, if any, peace in the world that is not commanded.

Senator Bruce honestly goes the whole hog. He believes we should be in a League of Nations which could send our boys to Armenia or Turkey and our ships to equatorial Africa—perhaps to save a British or a French or a Belgian, perhaps even a German possession, called "mandate."

He knows the World Court is the first step in that direction. Tell your Senator whether you want that step taken.

Protect Children's Heads

Bright Sunlight Punctures Skull and Injures Brain

See this little African baby, whose head is protected from the sunlight as he rides on the back of his Sudanese mother.

This picture is a warning to mothers who allow young children to play bareheaded in the bright sunlight.

You have not time to read a via volume about the effects of sunlight on white in tropical countries. But everybody should understand that the "burning rays" coming from the sun, sufficiently powerful to destroy the corns, and other minute life, instantly, have a very damaging effect on the human brain, especially upon the brain of a WHITE child.

Sunlight pouring down, means a constant BOMBARDMENT by these active rays that penetrate the skull, affect the brain, and in tropical countries actually produce death, eventually.

Here in the milder countries the constant exposure of the head to sunlight is damaging, in the extreme.

And the ordinary hat made of WHITE straw in Summer is not sufficient protection. The harmful rays of the sun go through the white straw. A child's straw hat should be lined to the crown with some dark or dark green material.

This humble colored lady of the Sudan knows that her child's head must be protected from the scorching sun, so while she carries it on her back she arranges a big calabash to keep the sunlight from the baby's head.

How cleverly the child is carried, with a sort of saddle arrangement to hold up its little legs. It will grow up to be a healthy Sudanese, and a great help to its mother.

Those that do not know are "Born your children out in the sunlight, it can only do them GOOD."

Sunlight is good for all parts of the body, EXCEPT THE HEAD, in which the brain resides. That needs protection. Keep your children's heads protected from the bright sunshine, at least in Summer.

In Winter time, when the sun's rays are weaker, it is not so important. Remember that children with blonde hair and blue eyes are more easily affected by brilliant sunlight than darker children.

The lady in this picture, by the way, is for HER neighborhood just as fashionably dressed as the young lady sitting next to you with her knees, in the air, carefully uncovered. It is all a question of fashion.

MEDBURY SAYS

By John P. Medbury

A MEDBURY man has just started a new business known as the Professional Sympathizers, Inc. He travels all over the city, slapping other people's troubles.

YOUTH services are his services for six dollars a month.

IT only costs a dollar and a half a week to have him feel for you.

ONCE someone pays him to do all her weeping for her.

HE charges seventy-five cents a visit for tears.

SUCH are two for a quarter.

THIS is rather expensive, but sighs are only a nickel apiece.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By Helen Rowland

A woman's heart can't help feeling a little lonely when she is married to a man who is a "big" man.

HE has a fat rate for sympathy.

HE'll even take a punch in the nose off your back.

HE'll receive an order to wait for you all day for a woman who lost her fountain.

AND after he's got all through weeping she refused to pay him because she said his tears weren't genuine.

THIS taught him a lesson and now he wouldn't even suffer for the King of England unless he got his money in advance.

'HOUR OF THE ROSE' AT TWILIGHT

By DR. FRANK CRANE

A HEBREW psalmist, who knew well the quiet beauty of the countryside at twilight, sang the words:

"Be still and know that I am God."

One of the finest things about a vacation in the Summer-time is the opportunity it gives to get out under an open sky in the peace of the twilight.

In those moments between the burning reality of day and the black actuality of night comes what someone has called "the hour of the rose."

The world is warm and tired and pacific; the day is calm with the calm of old age.

Heavy with earth odors the air drooves as twilight on little grey feet creeps with the lengthening shadows.

The hour of the rose is an hour of meditation, an hour of vision, an hour when the spirit burns like a candle flame, straight and calm, unmoved by the winds of life.

It is a time of contemplation.

Under an open sky, spread like a hand of benediction, it is good to sit and inwardly let the days file by.

The trouble, worries, injustice, troop past softened by the quiet perspective. The tangled skein of active life seems less a hopeless snarl.

Humanity, shy and kindly, draws close; the jangle and the discord sink away and we feel more in tune with life.

Wisdom lays it hand upon our shoulder; the ideal beckons from the sunset lighted hills; and we are strong and wise again.

A recent writer truly says: "Men should spend more time with stars and sunsets."

The soul bathes and is refreshed in the open and quiet of a Summer twilight in the country.

Getting out in the open at the hour of the rose helps to smooth out the creases of life. And it helps make you stronger for the fight in the days that follow.

"You Said It, Marceline!"

By MARCELINE D'ALROY

On "NOW AND THEN"

OF LOVE

THEY often don't MEAN what they SAY.

BUT THIS is perfectly ALL RIGHT. For when WOMEN talk to MEN of love THEY seldom SAY what they MEAN.

When A MAN tells a Girl he ADMORES her, AND asks her if SHE loves TO BE LOVED, some girls Answer: "OH! NOW AND THEN!"

THIS may MEAN ANYTHING, BUT USUALLY it means NOTHING.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaels

THE Earth puts on her robe of snow, her gains of ice and dust to watch the Old Year, who must go on slow unwilling feet. The Earth is gay, she has no care though years may come, may go with joy she greets the year if it's the joy, her brother's snow. For she has seen, her countless changes in laughter, and she knows fate and glad, years dark and strange.
